What is EUSurvey?

EUSurvey is the European Commission's multilingual online survey management system built for the creation and publication of surveys and public consultations. Launched in 2013, EUSurvey is the new version of IPM, which was originally conceived to support the development of EU policies by helping administrations, businesses and citizens to have their say on existing and new initiatives. Policy-makers can use the tool to help make decisions and assess impact of existing and future legislation.

Administrations, businesses and private associations are given the opportunity to use the EUSurvey Open Source release for their own needs.

EUSurvey covers all steps of a survey life cycle, from the design to the launch of the survey to the analysis and publication of results. It offers different types of multiple-choice questions, free text fields, as well as more complex elements like editable tables and gallery elements. Results can be displayed as histograms, percentages or in full detail and can be exported to different formats and published automatically on a special survey webpage. It is widely accessible and provides support for either identification or anonymity, depending on survey requirements.

EUSurvey
PURPOSES

EUSurvey can serve various purposes:

- Public consultations
- Targeted or restricted stakeholder consultations
- User satisfaction surveys
- Evaluation forms
- Event and conference registration

EUSurvey is used by most of the Commission's Directorates-General and Services, as well as many institutions, such as the European Parliament, the European Council and the Court of Auditors. In 2012, about 1,500 surveys have been carried out, with more than 135,000 replies. Since 2005, EUSurvey has been distributed free of charge to some 20 Member State administrations.
